Rita's Story

by Rita Klaus

Rita Klaus grew up always knowing that she wanted to be a Catholic nun. She attended Catholic school, sang at mass and had a deep prayer life. She was accepted into a convent at the age of 15 and started down the road she thought God wanted her to be on. Life ended up taking many different turns before she found out what He really had in store for her.

Rita's Story reads like a novel, but it's a biography. Around the age of 18, Rita developed signs of Multiple Sclerosis (MS). She experienced remission for a while and served in many places as a nun and teacher. However, the symptoms returned and were so severe that she had to leave the convent and try to live life on her own. She found work as a teacher and experienced one more remission. She met and married a man and had three children before MS struck again. But miracles do still happen and Rita Klaus experienced one by just asking.
